

ABSTRACT

We provide an online management of event software which helps the user to serve the functionality of the management of event. Only registered users are allowed to sign in to receive the features and the new users can sign up to avail the facilities provided by us. For now we are focusing only on the web application which will be further expanded to mobile application and other domains. In this project we will basically provide all of the required functions and needs which are used in the proper functioning of the event. We provide the user with different range of options to select from. We allow the user for several options requiring management such as marriage, reception, dance, show and several others. Once the user has selected the type of the event to be organized the user is asked about other details regarding the same such as the event date and time of the event, place where the event has to be organized and the equipment which will be required for in the upcoming event. Once the data has been received by the user the collected data is sent to the local database and after the completion the user is provided with a corresponding receipt for the same event. Afterwards the data stored is studied by the administrator of the website and the user is contacted by the admin for corresponding meetings and interact with the same client for his/her requirements accordingly.
